Item 66. Report of the Human Rights Council

75. The Chairman said that during the sixty-third session, the report of the Human Rights Council had been considered in plenary meeting and also had been allocated to the Third Committee.

76. Mr. Cancela (Uruguay) reiterated his country's position that the report of the Human Rights Council should be considered directly in plenary meeting. His delegation was disappointed by the allocation of the item to the Third Committee, a backward step in institutional terms for the Council which failed to recognize the negotiations finalized during the Council's fifth session and adopted by consensus. As in the previous year, his delegation accepted the majority decision but believed that the allocation must not be deemed a precedent. The written record must include a reference to that effect and the item must be reassessed during the following year.

77. Mr. Parham (United Kingdom), endorsing the position of Uruguay, said that his delegation had a long-standing strong preference for the entire report of the Council to be considered in plenary meeting owing to its unique status, the importance of its work and the spirit of its founding resolution. The United Kingdom was prepared again to support the suggested compromise on the basis that it should be spelled out that the solution was for the current year only and did not establish precedent. It was his delegation's wish that the same wording as in the previous session (A/63/252/Add.2) should be used.

78. The Chairman said that, having heard the statements just made, he would suggest that the General Committee should recommend that item 66 should be directly considered in plenary meeting and also allocated to the Third Committee.

79. It was so decided.
